URGE SENATORS TO FAVOR VETO

Washington Is Flooded With Messages on Bonus.

BOTH SIDES ON THE ALERT

Measure Expected to Pass by Close Vote Despite Appeals to "Uphold the President"—Senators From Ohio Counted Among Those Who Will Vote for Repassage—Vote in the House Had Big Majority.

Washington, May 19.—Intense interest is felt in the outcome when the soldier bonus bill comes up in the senate to determine whether President Coolidge's veto of the measure shall be sustained.

The action of the house of representatives in repassing the bill over the president's veto by a vote of 313 to 78, or 53 votes more than the necessary two-thirds, has been followed by an energetic poll of the senate. Legion spokesmen and friends of the measure claim to have a majority of four votes in the senate above the required two-thirds. They insist that it is pledged, and will not fail them, despite determined efforts being made to bring wavering senators to the support of the president.

Washington has been flooded with messages addressed to individual senators urging them to "uphold the president," coming from chambers of commerce, business associations and others interested in defeating the bonus again. What effect this storm of messages will have is uncertain, but to neutral observers it appeared the issue in the senate is very closely drawn, with indications pointing to a bonus victory by perhaps two votes.

After the bonus bill passed over the presidential veto in the house, both Ohio senators reiterated their intention to vote to override the veto when it comes up in the senate.

Senator Fess said: "In my opinion there is no doubt that it will pass the senate by a substantial margin over the two-thirds required. I do not know of any senator who voted for it on its passage who intends to vote to sustain the veto."

When the bill came to a vote 23 Republicans and two Democrats switched from support of the bill when it was before the house first for passage to sustain the veto.

Three of the 22 Ohio members of the house voted to sustain the veto, Longworth, Brand and Burton. Longworth voted for the bill on its original passage.

In the house the hour allowed for debate, in which speakers were limited to five minutes each, argument was based almost entirely on President Coolidge's message. Friends and foes of the bill assailed the message, Representative Garrett of Tennessee, Democratic leader, alluding to what he termed "the intertemporal language used by the president," while Republicans, including Representative Longworth, their floor leader, rallied to the support of the president. Chairman Green of the house ways and means committee, which framed the bill, and Representative Laguardie, Republican of New York, however, broke from the ranks in criticizing the views of Coolidge. Chairman Madden of the appropriations committee led the defense for the president, stressing particularly the plea of Coolidge for economy. On that ground, he said, he would change his stand for the bill. Other Republicans who spoke in support of the veto did so for the same reason.

KILLED BY ACID

Woman Disappears After Mysterious Attack on Columbus Man.

Columbus, May 19.—George G. Hackney, 30, of this city, died en route to a hospital Sunday night, after being burned by carbolic acid, thrown in his face while he was standing in front of the Knickerbocker theater. Patrolman A. F. Lewis, standing nearby, said a woman threw the acid at Hackney from the door of an auto in which she drove to the curb near Hackney.

The car immediately sped away. The patrolman went to Hackney's rescue, noting the license number on the machine, in which, the patrolman said, a woman was the only passenger. The car disappeared in the traffic, unrecognized by any one near the scene.

Another automobile was commandeered by Patrolman Lewis, who started to the hospital with Hackney, but the latter died without making any statement on which police might begin investigation of the deed.

Breach of Promise Claimed.

Chicago, May 19.—A suit for $200,000 damages for alleged breach of promise to marry was filed in court here by Mrs. Bessie Gottlob of Chicago against Walter J. Hill of St. Paul, son of the late James J. Hill. Attorneys charge that Hill promised to wed Mrs. Gottlob, but broke his vow, and that it was at Hill's request, Mrs. Gottlob divorced her husband several years ago. Hill's wife, Dorothy, a daughter of Mortimer Barrows, of St. Paul, divorced him in Los Angeles in 1922. Hill was one of nine heirs of his father's $11,500,000 estate.

Last of Iroquois Theater.

Chicago, May 17.—The Iroquois theater, in which more than 600 lives were lost by fire in December, 1903, and since known as the Colonial theater, will soon pass out of existence. It will be torn down and the site become part of that to be occupied by Chicago's new $5,000,000 Masonic temple.

Death list of the Benwood mine explosion April 28 was increased to 119 when a rescue crew located the body of an unidentified miner near an air shaft.

HOW TO GET IN IS A QUESTION

Ohio's Small Apportionment for National Convention.

PROGRAM FOR FOUR DAY MEET

No Hitch Likely Unless Unforeseen Disagreement Should Arise Over Choice of Running Mate and Proposals For Platform—Keynote Opening Day By Congressman Burton of Ohio.

Cleveland, May 18.—Ways and Means of securing admission to the Republican national convention, which meets here three weeks from Tuesday is becoming a tense topic among convention goers.

Ohio's allotment of tickets is only 1,000 and men charged with the distribution of these precious pasteboards admit themselves stumped as to how they are to make tickets go around far enough not to leave lasting and bitter enmities and jealousies. The elite, already assured of admittance to the public hall when the gavel sounds, calling to order the seventeenth quadrennial national convention of the Republican party, were naturally elated.

Officials of the local committee estimate that at least 100,000 Ohioans will attempt to see all or part of the convention. Present indications point to not more than four sessions of the convention, and even though 1,000 tickets are spread out so as to accommodate the greatest number, it will still leave 96,000 waiting on the streets outside and longing for an inside view of how a presidential candidate is named and a party platform adopted.

Following is the probable program for the convention:

The convention will assemble Tuesday, June 10. Temporary Chairman Burton will make the keynote speech. Roll call of states for naming members of convention committees on credentials, permanent organization, platform and the like will follow.

Report of committee on permanent organization, naming the man already selected for permanent chairman, who will then deliver his speech, the "second keynote" of the convention will be made Wednesday, followed by the report of the committees on credentials and platform, respectively, which probably will complete the second day's work.

Nomination of candidates for president will be made Thursday. Nomination of candidate for vice president and organization of the Republican national committee will be the Friday program.

Some believe it probable that the entire convention may be wound up by Thursday night. With President Coolidge conceding the nomination, it is realized that the work of the convention may be quickly dispatched. The only obstacles to one of the shortest conventions on record, it is said, would be a deadlock in the resolutions committee over some platform plank, or failure of leaders to agree upon the running mate for the president.

Despite the prospect of a short and routine convention, thousands of Ohioans are anxious to get seats to see how it is done.

The city already is falling up with the advance guard of convention officials. Coolidge managers have opened headquarters and within the next week most of the national committee, which will act as a committee on credentials to make up the temporary roll of the convention are expected to be here until the convention is over.

BEGGS IN THE RACE

Sandusky Friends Backing Him For Governor—Brown's Choice.

Columbus, O., May 19.—Secretary of State Thad H. Brown has definitely declared himself out of the campaign of the Republican nomination for governor of Ohio. Instead he has filed his declaration of candidacy for re-nomination for secretary of state. He has been talked of as a probable organization candidate for the gubernatorial nomination.

Sandusky constituents of Congressman James T. Beggs sent him a telegram asking whether he would consent to be a candidate for governor and received a reply from Washington stating that if the mass of Ohio Republicans so desire he will be a candidate for the nomination. Former Congressman Roscoe C. McCulloch, Canton, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, accepted the invitation of State Chairman Montgomery to address the party pre-primary state convention Tuesday and Wednesday in Columbus.

DOINGS IN OHIO

Brotherhoods Meet.

Springfield, O., May 19.—At the convention of the Ohio Federation of Brotherhoods of the Evangelical church being held here these officers were elected: President, W. F. Lucks, Columbus; vice president, H. M. Bechtel, Springfield; recording secretary, W. E. Ludwig, Columbus; financial secretary, E. S. Brotz, Cleveland; treasurer, Dr. William G. Hamm, Chillicothe. Next year's meeting will be held at Amherst.

Corn Crop Threatened.

Columbus, O., May 19.—This year's corn crop in Ohio is in danger of falling under normal because of delay in planting, due to recent heavy rains, according to C. J. West, state-federal crop reporter. Corn planting has been delayed from 10 days to two weeks, he said. He reported other crops in good condition.

Auto Agency Reorganized.

Columbus, O., May 19.—The Rickenbacker-Columbus company, incorporated for $100,000, will take over the Gillman-Harris Motors company, which has been the Rickenbacker agent in Columbus and 17 counties. A reorganization of the company has been effected with B. W. Gillman as president.

Marion Tax Case.

Marion, O., May 19.—Marion's occupational tax was held constitutional by Judge Carpenter of Newark, who heard an application for an injunction to prevent its enforcement. The case will be appealed immediately. The tax was imposed by city council after municipal funds became exhausted.

Excursion Rates Refused.

Cleveland, May 19.—It is announced that the Central Passenger association has refused a request of the Cleveland convention committee for reduced fares during the Republican national convention next June. Only regular train service from Ohio and nearby states will prevail.

Hanged Himself.

Akron, O., May 19.—John H. Hoch, 53, was found hanging from a rafter in the attic of his home here by his wife when she returned from shopping. Despondency over ill health is the attributed cause.

Bishop Clipping to Speak.

Wilmington, O., May 19.—R. R. Clipping, of Dayton, bishop of the United Brethren church, will deliver the commencement address June 6 at Wilmington college.

Mother of Priest Dies.

Lorain, O., May 19.—Mrs. Bridget Johnson, 88, mother of Rev. John Johnson, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church, died of pneumonia at his home here.

President Recovers.

Washington, May 19.—It was reported at the white house that President Coolidge has recovered from the bronchial cold with which he has been afflicted a few days. He was unable to attend church service Sunday, the first time since he came to Washington.

Four men were killed when the car in which they were riding was struck by a train at the Mayfair crossing near Chicago. The dead: Thomas McNamara, Paul Ziebell, Joseph Ma-rella and Sylvester Sullivan.

PAT HARRISON FOR CHAIRMAN

Mississippi Senator Will Sound Campaign Keynote.

ALL CANDIDATES SATISFIED

Temporary Chairman Recognized as Quick Thinker and Able Orator Who Sticks to His Text—Final Decision Regarding Two Thirds Rule Rests With National Democratic Convention.

New York, May 19.—Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi will serve as temporary chairman of the Democratic national convention when it meets here in June, having been unanimously chosen on a single ballot by the committee on arrangements at its meeting here.

Senator Harrison will deliver the "keynote speech." He is described as an able orator, a quick thinker and a speaker who does not digress from a theme. Unanimity was emphasized and reiterated by members of the committee on arrangements before and following its meeting in the National Democratic club.

Every member of the committee is entitled to equal credit in approaching the matter of the election of a temporary chairman in a broad spirit of unity, said Cordell Hull, chairman of the committee and also chairman of the national Democratic committee. After naming Senator Harrison the committee adjourned to the tentative date of June 16.

When told of Senator Harrison's election, William G. McAdoo, active candidate for the nomination, said: "I am delighted with the selection of Senator Harrison and my friends strongly support him."

With rumors filling the air that the committee would itself recommend to the convention the abrogation of the two-thirds vote rule, Chairman Hull said: "I will not say that the committee won't discuss the question, but it is hardly likely. The problem is one which must be decided by the convention delegates, no matter what the committee on arrangements might do."

Franklin D. Roosevelt, who is supervising Governor Smith's campaign for the presidential nomination, said: "I am very greatly pleased at his selection. I reached the conclusion some time ago that he was not only splendidly qualified to sound the keynote for our party, but that he was the best selection that could be made."

Of the 14 members of the committee, two were absent, J. Bruce Kremer, vice chairman, of Montana, and Isador Dockweiler of California. Two women are members of the committee, Mrs. Emily Newell Blair of Joplin, Mo., and Mrs. D. A. McDougall of Sapulpa, Okla.

At Atlantic City, where he is taking a rest, Governor Smith of New York declared himself "perfectly satisfied" with the selection of Senator Harrison as temporary chairman of the Democratic national convention. "I am very well acquainted with Senator Harrison," he said. "I have known him for a long time and I regard him as a highly qualified man."

WOMEN MARCHERS DISREGARD JEERS

Peace Demonstration Is Made Despite Discouragements.

Cleveland, May 19.—Hundreds of Cleveland women marched in the peace parade here Sunday, sponsored by the Women's Council for the Prevention of War. Several hundred world war veterans were in line.

Police estimated the number of marchers at 3,500. A month ago it was estimated between 15,000 and 20,000 would march.

The marchers carried banners, one of which read, "Yesterday, Force; Today, Arbitration!" Others were: "Israel's mission is peace." "We want peace for our children and our children's children." "We aim to conserve life." and "We follow the Prince of Peace." The chamber of commerce, American Legion and the American Planning association opposed the parade as "unpatriotic." The marchers were undismayed by wind, rain, jeers or ridicule of critics and opponents.

REPLIES TO PRESIDENT

Ohio Adjutant of Legion Takes Exceptions to Veto Message.

Columbus, May 19.—Hugh K. Martin, adjutant of the American Legion of Ohio, commenting on President Coolidge's position, declared that the president has "had a change of heart" since he was governor of Massachusetts, and added: "While governor he signed one bonus bill and advocated another with this message to the general assembly of Massachusetts: 'The state that neglects its defenders is unworthy of being defended.' Surely the president did not feel at that time he was ruining the ex-service man or dealing unjustly with the people of that commonwealth. Why not apply the same principle now?"

Martin objected to the president's assertion that the bill is legislation calculated to benefit a class and that the bonus is a gratuity extended the soldier for patriotic services, replying that "had there been universal conscription in the late war, then everybody would have been in the service in one way or another, and there would have been no class. Mr. Coolidge refers to this as a gratuity. This, of course, means that nothing was done by the ex-service men to merit this little insurance policy. How soon services are forgotten. The service men had nothing to do with fixing their compensation while in the service, but because a man renders a service which is needed in an emergency at a wage far below that of the lowest paid laborer is surely no reason for regarding a subsequent partial adjustment as a gratuity or gift which is doled out as charity."

Misaid His Pocketbook.

Columbus, May 19.—Michael Moran reported to the police that he made a purchase at a market stand and absent-mindedly left his wallet, which contained $205 in cash and certificates valued at $1,200 on the stand.

Governor Smith's Mother Dies.

New York, May 19.—At the age of 72 years, Catherine Smith, mother of Governor Smith of New York, died Sunday at the home of a daughter, Mrs. John J. Flynn of Brooklyn. Her death was due to pneumonia after an illness of several weeks. Mrs. Smith was born in New York city. Her husband, Alfred E. Smith, died in 1886. Governor Smith was at Abscon, N. J., when notified of his mother's death and left immediately for Brooklyn.

EXPOSES THREE FINANCIAL FAKES

Politicians Mislead Public Regarding Corporations, Credit, and Railroads, Says F. N. Shepherd.

FALLACIES MET WITH FACTS

Declares People Will Make Short Shrift of Those Who Deceive Them When Aroused to Truth of Own Interests.

Three great misrepresentations, by which certain politicians have advanced their own interests at the expense of public welfare, were recently declared by F. N. Shepherd, Executive Manager, American Bankers Association, in an address at Kansas City, Missouri, to be the oft-repeated statements that "Wall Street" owns the corporations, that the Federal Reserve Banks discriminated against agriculture and deflated the farmers, and that there are seven billion dollars of "water" in railroad capitalization and rates should be reduced accordingly.

What Facts Tell

In regard to the alleged ownership of the corporations by "Wall Street," Mr. Shepherd showed that the securities of American corporations are very widely held by the people. The Union Pacific, he pointed out, has over 50,000 stockholders and the Pennsylvania Railroad 147,000 stockholders, 67,000 of whom are women, with an average ownership of 47 shares each. The American Telephone and Telegraph Company has 200,000 stockholders, 120,000 of whom are employees, and the United States Steel Corporation has 174,000 stockholders. According to a recent report of the Interstate Commerce Commission, he said, Class 1 railroads have a total of 777,132 stockholders, there being, therefore, practically as many owners of shares as there are employees.

"The real capitalists of America," continued Mr. Shepherd, "are these and the bondholders whose funds are invested in securities through their thirty million savings accounts, and through their ownership of over 71 million life and industrial insurance policies. Once arouse these people to the fact that it is their interests which are being attacked through these misrepresentations and they will make short shrift of those who deceive them."

Truth About the Federal Reserve
"As to the Federal Reserve System, instead of its discriminating against the farmer, exactly the opposite is true. During the period of greatest decline in the value of agricultural products, about which there has been so much loose talk, rediscounts with Federal Reserve banks in non-agricultural districts actually decreased by 28 per cent, but in agricultural districts rediscounts were actually increased by 56 per cent. The Federal Reserve Banks of the big cities of Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Cleveland poured into other Federal Reserve Banks in agricultural districts literally hundreds of millions of dollars."

"As to the alleged seven billions of 'water' in the railroads, a physical valuation of the railroad properties has been under way for the past ten years, as a result of the La Follette Act, conducted by a body of unprejudiced, non-political experts by whom the valuation has been placed at $18,900,000,000. Although it has been officially stated, and reiterated, that, in arriving at this figure, no consideration whatever was given to capitalization, politically-minded men are still deceiving the public, and particularly the farmers, about the 'water' in the railroads. Railroad stock today is not watered. Any possible fair scheme of valuation today proves that our railroads are worth from one to two billion dollars more than their capitalization."

No Railroad Income Guarantee
"Further, demagogues are telling people that the railroad income is guaranteed. The Esch-Cummings Act does not guarantee any return to railroad stockholders, as the demagogues constantly assert. By its terms the Act simply provides a yard stick for rate making, which is that a fair railroad rate is one which would show a return of 5 1/2 per cent upon the actual value of the property used in transportation in a given territory."

"This provision bears no relation whatever to railroad capitalization and, moreover, no relation to individual railroads, some of which might show earnings under such a rate-making provision in excess of six per cent, and some much less. No consideration whatever is given in the Act or in the administration of the Interstate Commerce Commission to railroad capitalization or any return upon it."

MIDDLEMAN'S PROFITS.

Words of objection on the part of the farmer against the middleman often are in vain, but the farmer who raises on his own acres all that his table requires, the year round, places himself in a position where he is largely independent of the middleman. Often the remedy for many objectionable conditions lies in our own hands.

Bread Baked 4,400 Years Ago Found on the Nile

A loaf of brown "famine" bread sold during the Peninsular war has been presented to Coventry City Guild museum, together with a small and faded notebook in which the owner wrote that he intended to keep the bread as a memento of the high price of corn at that time.

But this loaf is new when compared with others that have been discovered at different times. Few people, for instance, would care to put their teeth into the loaf which is still preserved at Ambaston, Derbyshire. It is 700 years old, and was given to the Soar family with a grant of land by King John.

Several years ago, a French explorer found an Assyrian loaf, which, it was estimated, had been baked in the year 500 B. C., and was, therefore, about 2,500 years old. In shape it resembled a bun. It was discovered, wrapped in a cloth, in an ancient tomb where it had probably been put by the superstitious Assyrians to be used as food by the dead person during his journey to another world.

Many years ago an oven was found at Pompeii, containing several loaves, slightly charred, but all bearing the bakers' name. What is easily the oldest loaf in existence, however, is the one discovered by an Egyptian explorer on the banks of the Nile in 1905. It was baked in the year 2500 B. C., and is, therefore, over 4,400 years old.—London Answers.

Golfer Killed

A sliced drive caused the death of Robert Journe, cadet in the French mercantile marine, at Biarritz. His golf ball lodged on the side of a steep hill, and when he tried to recover it he slipped and fell to his death.

HERRICK REFRIGERATORS

HERRICK DRY AIR SYSTEM REFRIGERATOR

The Big Difference In Refrigerators

The main object of any refrigerator, of course, is the preservation of foods. The refrigerator that will keep foods in perfect condition longest is naturally the refrigerator you want—provided it doesn't increase your ice bills.

The Herrick answers those requirements with facts—not claims. And it does even more. It actually decreases your ice bills while giving you more effective food preservation.

And why? Simply because the Herrick is far more than an ice box—far more than a cold storage place. It is built on the scientifically demonstrated principle that more than merely cold air is necessary to keep foods in good condition for any great length of time.

Perhaps the biggest essentials to scientifically correct refrigeration are—

- No. 1. Circulation of cold dry air.
- No. 2. Effective insulation.
- No. 3. Air-tight construction.

That the Herrick has these necessary essentials is a demonstrated fact. Many proofs of the truth are visible even to the least informed purchaser. Others are hidden within the walls of the refrigerator, but nevertheless there, performing their functions so important to good health and economy.

Spring Gowns Are in Great Variety

Lace and Ruffles and Simple, Severe Costumes on Style Sheet.

Some women have a penchant for selecting the right thing in clothes and perfect genius for wearing them well, observes a fashion correspondent in the New York Herald. One without the other is a useless gift. The experts do a large share of the preliminary work in the first instance, but the final decision rests with the individual. In the matter of wearing clothes after the choice is once made, the careful attention to details has more than nine-tenths to do with it. This season, if ever, women thus gifted will have an opportunity to express themselves.

Those who look their best in graceful clothes with lace and ruffles and lines that lack definition, and women who seem most at home in simple, severe types of costume will both find variety, even in their own particular mode without a bit of difficulty.

Reports from Paris of the spring openings read very differently from those of last season, when nearly every house emphasized the fact that there would be very little change, although putting forth a few tentative innovations. This season the changes in the general silhouette as well as in the length of skirts are pronounced in serious vein.

That there is a marked diversity of opinion is evident. What could be more diametrically opposite than the extremely simple tailleur and the repeated use of the Oriental and even lace ruffled dresses for afternoon. In some of the houses the bolero jacket is shown and others incline to the Chinese or Indo-Chinese, as it is called, a medium long coat of loose cut, sometimes fastening at one side, and always with a straight band collar.

Inclines to Oriental Note.
Lucile inclines to this Oriental note, displaying coats and wraps in this manner for both day wear and for evening. A china-blue poplin suit, which she created, has a trimming of Chinese embroidery and it matched with a mandarin toque. "Even in this collection one finds that there is diversity, for there are also youthful designs in tailored suits and dresses of lace for afternoon, that have been dyed in dark tones to make them suitable and practical for day wear. Browns and blacks are notable in these dresses.

Straight sheathlike dresses have circular flounces at the bottom and tunics that are long and straight are slashed at the sides to make walking possible as well as to show the slip of some contrasting material. In some sheath dresses which are also partially tunics an opening extends from the neckline at the back to the hem, allowing a foundation dress to contrast with the sheath. It may also extend a few inches below the upper tunic.

Margaine Lacroix shows many frocks employing the shaded materials as a color scheme. These are in laces and in crepes and other dresses and costumes are reported to show many interesting trimmings—among others, mother-of-pearl sequins, marabou, cre ribbon, braids and some beads. For evening fabrics dull gold cloth and copper tissue are mentioned as well as the more usual silver cloth.

One of the Most Recent and Possibly Rather Extreme Tunic Models, With Long Vest of Lingerie and Peculiar Gathered Section in Front.

From these and various sources the impression grows that one may add to the variety in the wardrobe without necessarily subtracting, and that a few minor points in the changing mode are fairly well established unless the larger houses will have some unusual surprises in store.

Black Prevails Over Brown.
Black, it is quite certain, will be more often seen in the new models than brown, although a few makers still insist on the superiority of the latter, and one maker shows costumes in this color shading the details through golden brown to the palest cream color—it must be admitted with particular success.

The alpaca, which are being well received, are most interesting in the changeable weaves, which are usually banded or otherwise trimmed with plain material. Where all the feather trimming is to come from that the season predicts, is something that probably the makers know more about than we do, but marabou, clipped ostrich and clipped dove feathers are shown on the model gowns and are sure to be copied by both New York and Paris.

Capes in shorter lengths continue to appear and small wraps or coats of varying lengths are almost certain to be shown with each dress, for it seems important with dresses showing two contrasting tones to simplify the costume by having the wrap match one or the other of the fabrics.

One of the New York houses exhibits a model which follows closely the lines of those featured in the early collections in Paris. It is a sheath of black chantilly lace open in the back over a black satin foundation which shows a few inches at the hem. The lace is banded all the way around with plain net and the neckline is banded in burnt orange satin tied with a bow and two long ends at the back. At each side of the waistline the sheath is attached to the foundation, giving a slightly bloused line.

Shortened Skirt More Than Rumor.
Decidedly the shortened skirtline is more than a mere rumor, for reports are current concerning those actually seen on Paris streets. Discounting the fact that mannequins from the couturiers are in the habit of wearing models in public to introduce them, we are told that all of American skirts are much longer than those seen abroad. One model was mentioned in particular as cut so short that it was only a few inches below the knee, and the opinion was expressed at the same time that skirts worn here would not be in this extremely exaggerated form.

Predictions are never safe where fashions are involved, but it is comparatively reasonable to state that it will be several months before any such transformation takes place in the costumes seen on New York avenues.

As a matter of fact, during the last period of shortening skirts, followed swiftly by longer ones, the best-dressed women were the ones who varied their skirt lengths the least. Possibly with the tendency to vary the modes for afternoon and evening from those for morning and street wear there will be a variety of skirt lengths for the different hours. This, however, would have to be our own interpretation of the mode, for those of Paris make are as short for evening as at any other time, if not shorter.

Black Satin in Evidence.

The black satin frocks, which are most in evidence just at this time both here and abroad, continue to appear in many different types, those for afternoon being shown in soft gathered and simple tucked designs and for the morning tailored models are spoken of as being as severely cut as the simplest cloth suit.

Nothing could be smarter than the ruffled blouses of sheer white material to wear with the suits, and again for models where the lingerie note might be too fussy one has some very new collars and cuffs of satin from which to select.

An entertaining model in black satin shows a new arrangement of tucks, plackets being placed at graduated spaces horizontally from neck to hem. As the closing is at one side, a few of the tucks are turned to follow this edge, accomplished by the use of an applied tucked band.

How the large number of designs have been skillfully evolved which show no waistline is a matter of wonder, for comparatively few of the newer models seem to have any demarcation at all, or if a slight blousing is used, the girdle is sometimes absent either back or front and then subdued almost to extinction.

A straight close-fitting chemise is apt to be combined with ruffles or skirt joined to it, at almost any point from the hipline to the knee, triple-plaited ruffles, circular ruffles or plain-tied bands being the most frequently seen. Extreme, perhaps, but undeniably smart.

In Yellow and White Crepe

A chemise dress in yellow and white crepe with three flat sections set in at the front of the skirt has a sleeveless jacket of yellow wool loosely knit and bound with white. A white hat is shown with this model, having a slightly scoop brim large enough to be called a smart hat.

Out of Proportion
A spider enlarged to the size of a cat would be helpless, even if the relative proportions of all its parts were retained. Its legs would bend and break under the weight of its body because the muscular strength would have increased only as the square of the muscles' dimensions, while the body's weight would have increased as the cube of its parts. The fly with its relatively powerful legs easily walks upward over a vertical wall. Make it 100, or even 50 times as large, and its muscles could not begin to hold it in this way against the force of gravity.

CONSERVATION.

A young woman who was reared in an eastern town read in a poultry journal that poultry raising was remunerative, so she decided to try it. She purchased a hen and set her on thirteen eggs. She wrote to a poultry journal that poultry raising was much to her liking and wondered how long the hen should remain on the eggs. The paper wrote back, "Three weeks for chickens and four weeks for ducks." Later she wrote to the poultry journal as follows: "Many thanks for your advice about the setting hen. She remained on the nest three weeks and at the end of that time there were no chickens hatched. As I did not care for ducks, I took her off the nest and sold the eggs."

AMUSEMENTS

Ramon Navarro, who plays the leading male role in Fred Niblo's production, "Thy Name Is Woman," presented by Louis B. Mayer thru Metro, which is playing at the Met theater, has become one of the most popular of film stars in the short space of two years.

Born of Spanish parents, he was brought up in Durango, Mexico, where his family had settled on this side of the Atlantic. At an early age he gave evidence of unusual talents being especially adept at music. When older he decided to take up the stage as a profession, and realizing that opportunities were far more numerous in the United States he came north.

His ability as a dancer won him a place in the Marion Morgan dance troupe and it was not long before he found himself in California. Rex Ingram saw him and put him in the role of Rupert of Hentzau in "The Prisoner of Zenda." He made an instantaneous success, and his acting future was assured.

He next appeared in "Trifling Women," in which he shared honors with Barbara Le Marr and Lewis Stone. This served to bring Miss La Marr and Navarro to stardom.

After that came "Where the Pavement Ends" which was his first role as a real honest-to-goodness hero. Then "Scaramouche," the big Rex Ingram special in which Navarro rose to great heights and placed himself at the head of male film stars.

"Thy Name Is Woman" is taken from Karl Schoenherr's play, the American version of which was by Benjamin Glazer and which was put in screen form by Bess Meredyth. Victor Milner was photographer and Ben Carre art director.

POMONA GRANGE

Regular Session Near Ashville--Next at Walnut Township School.

The Pickaway Pomona Grange met in regular session Saturday, May 17, at the Scioto Valley Grange hall, three miles north of Ashville. A short business session was held in the forenoon after which a very appetizing dinner was served by the entertaining grangers.

At the opening of the afternoon session ten candidates received the obligation of the degree of Pomona. At the close of this session the various granges under direction of the Pomona lecturer, rendered the following literary program which was enjoyed by more than 200 grangers.

THIS IS THE MONTH

To shear sheep.
To take 'em off.
To get the first fry.
To put up the screens.
To get your fill of strawberries, the most delicious of all fruit.
To watch the animals on the new grass, particularly clover. Bloating is disastrous.
To keep separate the chicks of different sizes. It gives the small ones a chance.
To let the horses go barefooted, too. Taking off their shoes will rest their feet.
To continue feeding grain to dairy cows. The new grass is by no means rich enough alone.
To keep the young pigs growing. A few scanty feeds now will result in days of delay in maturity.
To observe Decoration day and to let your mind dwell for a little while on the loved ones gone.
To guard against rats around the poultry. One able-bodied rat can destroy all the season's profits in one night.
To give extra care to the cream for butter. Anybody can make good butter in winter, but it's rare in the hot months.—Farm Life.

New Elks Home to be Dedicated By Chillicothe Lodge, June 11.

PUBLIC IS CORDIALLY INVITED FRIDAY, JUNE 13

Magnificent Building Constructed at Cost of $62,671 is Credit to the County and City---All the Comforts and Conveniences of a Fraternal Home and Club Have Been Provided---Lodge Was Instituted February 15, 1888, and Many Charter Members Are Yet Living and Four Are Active Workers---Judge Charles Dresbach Will Make the Principal Address at Dedicatory Exercises and Other Noted Speakers to be Present.

The new Elks home will be dedicated Wednesday afternoon, June 11, with appropriate ceremonies.

The dedication will be in charge of Chillicothe lodge No. 52, with Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler William J. Meyer of Portsmouth, presiding.

The opening of the lodge building will be an event in the history of lodge circles in this city. It is the fourth fraternal building in this city and as a home is far superior to any other.

The new edifice is a massive and substantial looking structure in an ideal location and is a monument to this social and fraternal order. It is constructed of wire cut brick with Bedford stone trimmings and is 45 feet in width by 80 feet in length. The lot on which the building stands is 94½ feet wide by 150 feet in length.

The building was constructed under the management of the building committee of the lodge; Walker Baughman, Senet Cryder Sr., T. O. Gilliland, Judge Charles Dresbach, Frank Heffner with Walker Baughman as chairman; Charles Mason, secretary and Charles G. Shulze, as treasurer.

The architects were Stribling & Lum, of Columbus and Barnes & Leist were the contractors. The steam heating, roofing, ventilation system and plumbing was done by Marion & Lyle. Baughman Brothers decorated and painted the building and the Fissell Electric company did the electrical work and wiring. The Ohio Utilities company furnished the fixtures; The Logan Gas company furnished the kitchen range; W. G. & N. G. Hamill furnished the queensware; T. K. Brunner & Son the silverware. The Circleville Lumber company furnished all the wood building material. The Columbus Tent and Awning company the tents and canvas floor coverings.

A. F. Mowery of Columbus, did the brick work; James Ramey the plastering and Schlegler Brothers put in the steel ceilings. The Wood Specialty company built the altar and four station pedestals in the lodge room. The draperies and window curtains were furnished by A. L. Wilder; the lodge furniture by Mason Brothers and the furniture in the ladies' and gentlemen's parlors by the Stevenson Furniture store.

All the home features that could possibly be included in its construction and outfitting have been included and every effort was made to make it homelike, and all the conveniences of a home and club have been provided.

The contract was let at $42,671, to this was added in extras $3,000; the lot cost $12,000 and the furnishings $5,000 making an outlay of $62,671.

There is a basement under the entire building and here are the furnace rooms, storeroom, kitchen, pantry and dining rooms.

The first floor is given over to the ladies' and gentlemen's parlors, with ample cloak rooms. In the rear of the second floor are located the billiard and smoking rooms. On this same floor are private telephone booths, reading room and a ladies' reception room. Toilets, bubbling drinking fountains and hot and cold soft water are conveniently located on both floors and in the basement.

The lodge room is on the second floor facing Court street. It is 39 by 42 feet and has a choir loft. In the rear of the lodge room are committee and club rooms. The verandas are 14 by 45 feet, the floor covering is art Mosaic and was furnished by the Ardit Mosaic Tile & Mable company, of Columbus.

French doors open out from the lodge room to the balcony, which makes an ideal resting place in the good old summer time. The wood interior finish is golden oak. Colonial mantels beautify both the ladies' and gentlemen's reception parlors. The entrance to these rooms are between massive columns of oak, which are handsome in design and lend a homey appearance. The curtains are of velour in two shades of purple, tied with white ribbon, the lodge colors.

The ceremonies of dedication will be performed by Chillicothe lodge with the following past exalted rulers officiating:

Chillicothe instituted this lodge on February 15, 1888, and now it will have the pleasure of dedicating the new temple.

Judge Charles Dresbach will deliver an address and there will be other noted speakers.

Dinner will be served in the banquet hall at six o'clock. The officers of Circleville lodge will confer the work in the evening, starting at 7:30 o'clock upon a class of twenty-five candidates. June 11, is for Elks in good standing only.

Friday, June 13, the building will be thrown open to the public from two to five o'clock for inspection of the entire building and at 7:30 o'clock to Elks and their families to dancing and other amusements to be announced later. This should be a gala event for all Circleville and Pickaway county. To have such a beautiful building in our county dedicated to the principles and purposes of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks is something of which all our citizens may be justly proud.

The public is cordially invited to visit the new home Friday afternoon from two to five o'clock and to see what you have helped to make possible in the erection of this most beautiful and complete structure.

GRACE!

The correspondent of a large business concern had been invited out to dinner and was asked to say grace. This was an entirely new experience but he took it valiantly.

"Dear Lord," he began, "We thank You for all Your favors of recent date. Accept our heartfelt gratitude. We trust that we may continue to merit Your confidence, and that we shall receive many more blessings from You in the future. Amen."—From Everybody's Magazine for June.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

No family is well fed without ice

JUST as true in Spring as in midsummer. The food may not spoil so fast, but it spoils. Above 50° milk is unsafe; meat loses its appetizing flavor; eggs and butter deteriorate.

To feed a family well, raw food must be kept at its best. If it is the least bit stale, the flavor suffers; if a little more stale, the nourishment is impaired; after a day or two it spoils, becomes a menace to health.

Why run such risks when ice costs so little? A few cents a day keeps the refrigerator full and your food in prime condition.

BOURBONISM AS A CAUSE OF STRIFE

BY EVANS WOOLLEN,
President, Trust Company Division,
American Bankers Association.

Evans Woollen

The continuance of property-right and the existence of efficient government in this land of universal suffrage depend upon the dominance of sound public opinion. More than anything else we need understanding. We need understanding between those who have and those who have not, between "the better off" and the "worse off"; understanding between those who employ and those who are employed. Understanding between all these is possible but understanding is impossible between the Bourbon and the radical. Accordingly, a contribution on our side to understanding is the avoidance of Bourbonism.

Some of us may well re-examine our conception of property rights. If those who own property and those who are charged with its conservation recognize this fact: That property-right is best defended, not on grounds of tradition, but on grounds of usefulness, there is a chance, through open-minded discussion, for understanding between them and those who vote. On the other hand, with the Bourbon who holds that property-right, unchangeable in all its aspects, is not discussable in any aspect there is no chance for understanding. There is chance for clash. He promotes the class consciousness that is his danger and the danger of those whose business it is to conserve property into the future. Is it possible, in the second place, that some of us may well re-examine our conception of free speech? Thus also we may help, each his mite, to avoid misunderstanding between Bourbon and radical. Some of us would find ourselves assuming free speech as the right of those who accept the political and social institutions in which we believe. Whereas the fact is, of course, that free speech, short of incitement to law-breaking, is the right of all of us. It is the right of the communist and the socialist as much as it is the right of you and me. If we who believe in our political and social institutions recognize this fact: That free speech, short always of incitement to law-breaking, is the right of those whose ideas we dislike not less than of those whose ideas we like, we promote understanding.

Indeed, let us go farther and say that we had better abate somewhat of our zeal for repressive legislation. Government by jailing can put out the communist and the socialist, but cannot put down communism or socialism. That is the task of those who think straight and discuss generously-mindedly.

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY

ON WHAT WOMEN SHOULD KNOW ABOUT MONEY

"When you are as old as I am," said Aunt Emmy to her niece Molly. "I hope there won't be so many widows like Mrs. Strong losing every cent through ill advised investments and having to take any sort of a job to keep body and soul together."

"Why not, Auntie?" inquired Molly. "Widows and orphans have always been victimized."

"They don't need to be," replied Aunt Emmy. "Every day better investment advice is open to women. Now-a-days the banks make their depositors feel that they can go to them with their financial problems. The more women have to do with banks the wiser they become about the disposition of their money. In time women will know enough to look carefully into every investment before they venture, and to question any promises to pay more than a reasonable return. It takes an experienced financier to judge if investment is safe. Women as a rule do not understand the tragedies that lurk around money. They love nice things and naturally want them so they are often led into foolish investments and speculations because they seek to gratify their wishes quickly. The so-called 'sure thing' that pays enormous dividends is usually sure loss."

"Don't think, Molly, that I mean that women should not seek to get the most out of their money. They should. But the way to get the most is to keep it safe. They should seek advice. Properly and conservatively invested at six per cent and the interest re-invested each year, money will actually double itself in twelve years. If you take $5,000 and lay it away it will be only $5,000 to the end of time. If you put it into an ill advised investment—it might all be lost over-night. But if you get good advice and put it to work in a good investment it will be $10,000 in a dozen years."

"I don't think I ever realized so clearly before that women ought to know more about money—I thought it was only for men," said Molly.

"Women are often left on their own resources," said Aunt Emmy. "If they talked with their banks more there would be fewer Mrs. Strong."—

Tracing Surnames

Surnames offer a most convenient method of recalling forgotten trades. Who would guess that Thacker or Thackeray was the man who thatched the roof with straw; that Tyler was the one who tiled it, or Slater, he who roofed with slate? A few other names, as Collier, the charcoal burner; Chandler, the candle maker, and Fuller, the cloth cleaner, will show how numerous were the ancient crafts. Blacksmith has no equivalent among English names, unless it be the abbreviated Smith, though in German there is Kilgensmith, the "clanging smith." But the horselover was a Farrier, dropped in our dictionaries but retained in the directories.

When One Tongue Was Used

There are some persons who suppose that Hebrew was the language spoken by Adam. Others say that Hebrew, Chaldean and Arabic are mere dialects of the original tongue, of which it is said in Genesis 11:1: "The whole earth was of one language and of one speech."

Curing by Suggestion.

There is nothing new in the attempt to cure disease by means of the mind. Many a shrewd physician of a hundred years ago cured patients with bread pills, and kept his secret. There were probably mental healers in Babylon and Assyria. They are known to have existed in Egypt, Greece and Rome, while the American Indian medicine man was unquestionably an adept in the art of suggestion.

Star's Admirer Given Shock by Her Manager

A touring company was going the round of some of the provincial towns, and everywhere the audience waxed enthusiastic over the juvenile lady. One evening a youthful admirer sought the manager, a tall, fine-looking man, and endeavored to obtain an introduction to the fascinating little lady. He had, he said, admired her acting very much.

"It must be very pleasant to know her," he suggested. "No doubt you who see her so often are very fond of her?"

"Yes," admitted the manager, "I suppose I am rather fond of her."

"Perhaps you've known her for some time?" ventured the other.

"Yes, quite a long time," answered the manager.

"But it can't be so very long," protested the admirer; "why, she's little more than a girl."

Then suddenly a horrible suspicion came to him, and he stammered: "You—you're not her husband, are you?"

"No, oh, no," said the manager, with an amused smile; "only her son."

DISCOVERS BIBLE RELICS AT SOUTH END OF DEAD SEA

Professor Albright Says He Found Unique Sanctuary and Fortress at Bab-Ed-Dra.

Word received in Philadelphia from the expedition under the direction of President M. G. Kyle of Zenia Theological seminary and Director Albright of the American School of Oriental Research in Jerusalem, said that important discoveries had been made in southern Moab and the region of ancient Sodom and Gomorrah at the southern end of the Dead sea, some of the relics dating back to 2000 B. C.

"The biggest find," Doctor Albright wrote, "was a unique sanctuary and fortress of the end of the early bronze period, with a large station of open-air hearths and inclosures. This station, at Bab-Ed-Dra, dates from about 2000 B. C. and is by far the most important one known in Palestine. We brought back thousands of vases, flint artifacts and a quantity of bones and skulls for anthropometric investigation. We found six prostrate menhirs, with the broken pieces of a seventh, all of stone which must have been dragged for miles.

"We also studied the early Moabite shrine at Ader and discovered a previously unknown temple. At Kersk we collected a mass of Moabite pottery of great interest. Besides we have a mass of nomenclature, plans and sketches, archeological surveys, Greek inscriptions and observations of considerable importance for the history of Moab and the Moabite ghor."

Study Patient's Whims to Reduce Hospital Expense

Of the $35,000,000 which New York city spends each year on the maintenance of its hospitals $10,000,000 goes for food alone, according to a report of the United Hospital fund made on methods of economy in hospital feeding.

Observance of the whims of the patient has been found to be a good method of economy. If it is found that an individual does not care for potatoes this item is dropped from his menu.

It also was learned that if the food is served in an inviting way there is less waste. Holding a portion of the food in reserve for a second helping has also been found a good saving.

In one institution caring for children it was found that a great deal of cereal was being thrown away. More sugar was added to the dish and the waste almost entirely disappeared.

Earth Is Nine Billion Years Older Than Life

In the first number of a new religious journal at Princeton university, The Real Issue, which appeared recently, a leading article by Henry Norris Russell, professor of astronomy, estimates the age of the earth as about 10,000,000,000 years, adding that life may have existed on it more than 1,000,000,000 years.

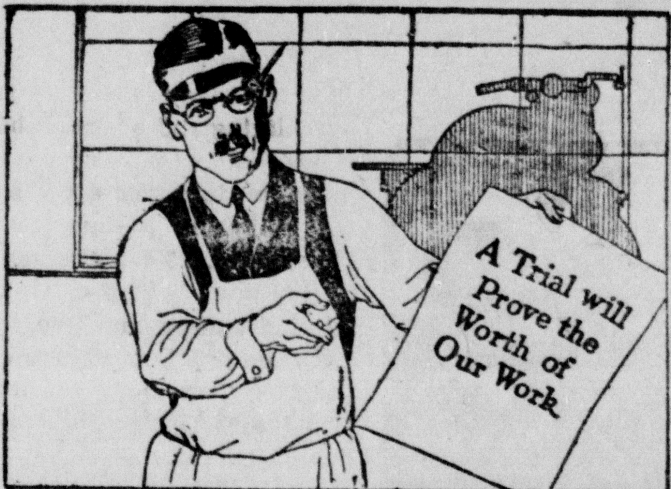

It is the complexity, rather than the vastness of the universe, however, the writer asserts, which points conclusively to an intelligence or power which "we may well term personal."

PAPER MONEY

Most Valuable Pile Contains $342,000.
000 U. S. Bills

Down in the tropics where native workmen often carry paper money tucked inside their shirts, against their bare skin, its life is very short. The average American paper dollar circulating right here at home, seldom wears more than a year; a $10 bill may last four years, and a $10,000 bill for painfully obvious reasons—never wears out. To make sure that all paper used is amply stout, it is put thru a testing machine. One piece I saw was folded, unfolded and refolded 1400 times before it broke.

It costs Uncle Sam practically as much to make a $1 bill as it does to make a $20, or a $10,000 note—about 1.3 cents each, they told me at the treasury. So, even if it were practicable to use gold, and even if we always had enough, it would cost more thru loss by abrasion to use it than to use paper. At that, some $600,000,000 in gold is in circulation or theoretically so—for most of it is kept in a steady stream to the treasury and the vaults of banks.

Every day old paper money moves new bills move out. More than $1,000,000, a day is destroyed, and of course an enormous amount must be kept on hand to meet new demands. In one small cupboard about three feet square, I saw $642,000,000 in paper money—said to be the most valuable pile anywhere.

Our $1 bills, being handled most, wear out soonest. Many of the two's turned in have one corner torn off—proof that gamblers and others still believe a $2 bill is unlucky, and that only by tearing off a corner is the hoodoo broken.

"A $10 bill," says Frank Thiel, assistant treasurer "will last on an average less than four years. Just how much paper money is lost of destroyed and never returned for redemption is difficult to estimate. One guess says that it is not more than one-quarter of one per cent."

WORLDWIDE CAMPAIGN

Dry Forces to Confer at Winona on Prohibition Plans.

Westerville, O., May 19.—Announcement is made by Dr. Ernest H. Cherrington, general secretary of the World League Against Alcoholism, that an extensive campaign for worldwide prohibition will be planned at a conference of officials and workers of the league, to be held at Winona Lake, Ind., July 18, 19 and 20. He says the conference will map out the field, give a survey of what has been accomplished, and make plans for rigorous opposition to the liquor forces of the entire world.

Details of a plan to establish an office of the organization at Cairo, Egypt, of which William Johnson will have charge, will be announced, through which the Moslem world will be reached by prohibition literature.

Speakers on the three-day program besides Dr. Cherrington will include Francis Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of America; Rev. Dr. Ira Landrith, Chicago, president of the Intercollegiate Prohibition association; Wayne B. Wheeler, legislative superintendent and general counsel of the Anti-Saloon league; Roy A. Haynes, federal prohibition commissioner; United States Senator Fess, Bishop William F. Anderson of Cincinnati and others.

MARK TWAIN'S INSTRUCTIONS

TO VISITING BURGLARS.

Mark Twain's home at Redding, Connecticut, was visited by burglars. After their visit Mark Twain tacked the following sign on his front door: "Notice to the next Burglar: There is nothing but plated ware in this house now and henceforth. You will find it in the brass thing in the dining room over in the corner by the basket of kittens. If you want the basket, please put the kittens in the brass thing. Do not make a noise; it disturbs the family. You will find rubbers in the front hall by that thing which has umbrellas in it; chiffonier, I think they call it, or pergola, or something like that. Please close the door when you go!"—The Mentor.

FICKARDT'S ROUP AND CHOLERA DROPS

On May 7, 1924, I called on Elmer Doner, Ashville, R. F. D. No. 1, and he told me the following:—

I bought four hundred (400) chicks of a hatchery and while there I bought some tablets to prevent disease or cure them if they were sick. Very soon the chicks began to die. I tried the tablets that I had obtained at the hatchery. I then bought other tablets liquids and powders, all nationally advertised remedies, but none of them did any good and my chicks kept on dying until I had lost 250.

A friend of mine told me of Fickardt's Roup and Cholera drops, at that time I had ten sick chicks in a pen separated from the well stock and I really considered them as good as dead.

I began to use Fickardt's Roup and Cholera drops with all my chicks, both well and sick. Two of the sick ones died, the other eight recovered and I have not lost any others since I began to use Fickardt's Roup and Cholera drops over a month ago.

I would have probably thought that the disease had run its course if it had not been for the fact that these that were sick recovered, but seeing the sick ones get well has convinced me that Fickardt's Roup and Cholera drops cured them.
